SIEMENS

Siemens S.p.A. is one of the world's largest producers of Industrial Automation components and a major player in Industry 4.0.

For years, it has been involved in the relationship with Technical Schools, Vocational Training Centers and Universities through a program called SCE (Siemens Cooperates With Education) with the aim of transferring experience and technological knowledge related to the field of Automation and Industry 4.0.

Siemens S.p.A. and CNOS-FAP federation signed an agreement ^[1] with the aim of establishing a collaborative relationship between the parties, respecting their mutual autonomy and respective social objects, with the purpose of initiating a synergy between CNOS-FAP's educational and training activities and Siemens' activities, particularly in the field of Numerical Control Machine Tools, Automation and Industry 4.0.
